FOR ADDITIONAL HIGH QUALITY MILITARY DVD'S

The U.S. Navy's deep sea divers and frogmen are some of the most highly trained and specialized personnel in the armed forces. Featured on this DVD are five rare films showing the history of the Underwater Demolition Teams (UDTs), predecessors to the modern SEALs, and some of the regimens developed to train them and the Navy's deep sea divers. Special attention is given to the physical effects of diving and the potential hazards that lurk below the surface. Learn about the development of underwater photography techniques, and see early footage of the use of the aqualung by Cousteau.

-Color and Black & White films
-Running time: 120 minutes
