

THE RED SEA

CONTENTS

RED SEA text and photographs by David Doubilet	page 18
SECRETS OF THE RED SEA text by Andrea Ghisotti	page 42
underwater gardens of the northern Red Sea	page 42
islands and reefs of the central and southern Egypt	page 84
central Red Sea: the fascination of adventure	page 96
southern Red Sea: the last frontier	page 131

SSI SCUBASCHOOLS INT.
Instructor No. 12653

Handwritten: A
03/94
@: 5772

Texts by David Doubilet
Andrea Ghisotti

Edited by Valeria Manfredi

Designed by Patrizia Balocco Louisetti

Translated by Antony Shugaar

Text and photographs by David Doubilet have been provided by the agency Grazia Neri - Milano

The publisher would like to thank Dr. Angelo Mojetta for his scientific advice.

At the center of the satellite...
...of the Red Sea, from the...
...Peninsula, to the north,
...moving southward to the...
...of Aden.
...graph by NASA.

6-7 A school of surgeonfish (Naso hexacanthus) swims past the undulating whiplike coral formations.
Photograph by Pierfranco Dilenge.

8-9 Giant gorgonian fans (Gorgonia ventalina) are frequent on the Red Sea.
Photograph by Ariel Fuchs.

10 A blue spotted grouper (Cephalopholis miniata) peers

12-13 A group of blackspotted grunts (Plectorhynchus gaterinus) seeks protections amongst the crannies of the reef.
Photograph by Vincenzo Paolillo.

14-15 An angelfish (Pomacanthus maculosus) shows off its splendid markings.
Photograph by Pierfranco Dilenge.

© 1993 Edizioni White Star
Via Candido Sassone, 24
13100 Vercelli, Italy

STEIMATZKY LTD
Steimatzy House
11 Melchior Street

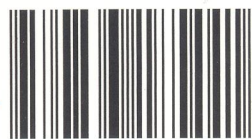

STEIMATZKY

STEIMATZKY M3
482-0822 STEIMATZKY
PRICE SHK.: 149.00
RED SEA (ENG)
DOUBILET/GHISOT00/03/94

482-0822: ט"קמ