

UNDERWATER MAN Joe MacInnis

“Comprehensive, first-hand accounts of underwater episodes representing every facet of the diving game, by a rare man who has done them all.”
Scott Carpenter

“Joe MacInnis is Underwater Man, and in this fascinating book he tells us how he came to undergo his sea-change...how it feels to be an alien in another world...a very personal, exciting and poetic account of human venturing into the primeval mystery of that elder womb, the ocean deeps. MacInnis writes with passion, love and true empathy for the dark world of waters and those other forms of life whose home it is.”

Farley Mowat

“Within our lifetime the development of SCUBA equipment has opened a fascinating new element of this planet to our scientific curiosity and sense of adventure...Joe MacInnis is a charter member of the first underwater generation.”

Pierre Elliott Trudeau

“Any Canadian who believes there are no more worlds to conquer will have his mind changed by this remarkable collection of underwater adventures. And how lucky we are that the man who describes them here has all the literary sensitivity of a poet.”
Pierre Berton

Underwater Man

---

JOE MACINNES

FOREWORD BY PIERRE ELLIOTT TRUDEAU

Handwritten signature and date: 4/12/00

DODD, MEAD & COMPANY • NEW YORK

Contents

	The Surface	7
Descent One:	Internship (1963)	15
Descent Two:	Treasure Island (1964)	25
Descent Three:	Preparations (1964)	39
Descent Four:	Man-In-Sea (1964)	53
Descent Five:	One Hundred Fathoms (1965)	69
Descent Six:	Grand Banks (1967)	81
Descent Seven:	Seven Hundred Feet (1968)	91
Descent Eight:	South American Salvage (1968)	105
Descent Nine:	The Ice Lovers (1971)	117
Descent Ten:	May Day In Michigan (1971)	127
Descent Eleven:	Diving Beneath Arctic Ice (1972)	135